Figure 5

Identification in a difference-in-differences model. The dashed line represents the outcome that the treated units would have experienced in the absence of the treatment.